Mike Journell Update from Michael Haynes, 3-8-12

In talking to Mike Thursday evening I found out the following: Mike will be released from the Hospital Friday morning to go home. Boy is he glad! The 35 staples from the operation on his back have been removed. Mike will have a special 4 wheel walker to get around in the grass and gravels, he has been practicing on walking in these places outside. An insurance agent will provide a home inspection to help Mike and Bonnie make their home as safe as they can for the walker. In-house therapy will be provided as well as information for Mike to do on his own. Mike is doing well in his back brace other than he cannot bend over. Mike says the brace keeps him erect and he does not get tired walking around. Mike is in a great frame of mind and is looking forward to getting back home (to the camp).
