

Pulaski 1067 Holds Hoop Shoot

Sadie Covey (Snowville), Maddie Ratcliff (Critzler), Mckenzie Radcliffe (Snowville), Bailey Nash (Critzler), Eli Warden (Snowville), and Alex Parmelee (Critzler) competed as their school's "Champions" In the Pulaski Elks Lodge Hoop Shoot Contest .

Pulaski 1067 recently held the annual Hoop Shoot competition at Central Gym. School Champions from boys and girls age groups of 8-9 and 10-11 met to compete for the honor of representing Pulaski County Schools Students at the Elks District Shoot Off.

Seventy-five parents, teachers and family members were at the central Gym to cheer on the six competitors. Elks members officiated as scorers and Line judges for the event and were assisted by parents and friends acting as linesmen and warm up coaches.

The Hoop shoot contest is a Benevolent and Protective Order of Elks exclusive contest held at grade and middle school levels. All schools in the age groups 8-13 were invited to have inner school competition and select a school champion to represent their age and gender group. The school winners compete against other county school's champs for an invitation to the Elks District Hoop Shoot and compete with schools all over Southwest Virginia. The winners progress to state and maybe on to national levels where the winners will have their name inscribed in the Naismith basketball hall of fame.

Pulaski Elks would like to thank the student athletes, parents, coaches, teachers, members, and friends for their help and contributions to this year's Hoop Shoot.
