

Staunton 351 Holds Trap and Skeet Shoot for Wounded Warriors

L to R: Nick Collins, Rader Dod, Will Dod, Larry Snead, Fin McClure, Zach Schindler, Dan Baxley, Jeff Woods, Jack Woods, Wilson Baxley, and Bruce Rupert. kneeling: Joe mader w/gun and Jim Hodge

On August 8, Staunton 351 held the sixth annual Gene Fitzgerald Memorial Trap and Skeet Shoot fundraiser for the Virginia Chapter Wounded Warrior Project.

The event is hosted by the Shenandale Gun Club, who graciously open their facility to the Staunton Elks Lodge.

Twenty shooters participated this year. Their participation helped the lodge raise over $900 in entry fees. Your support was greatly appreciated!

Thank you to Shenandale/Elk members Wayne Erskine, Watson Lewis and Jeff Woods, who oversaw and assisted the shooters; to Bubba Byrd and Paul Hiveley, who worked the registration table and accounted for the money; and to Donna Schindler and Bruce and Kris Rupert who purchased and arranged food for lunch. And a hearty thanks to Jim Hodge who worked hard to contact sponsors for donations. You all are the best!

Pete McCray

We would like to express Elk's appreciation to sponsors who donated generously to the Wounded Warrior fundraiser this year:

Valley Trust Insurance Group (Jake Schindler, Agent)
Vic Dandridge (Staunton Lodge 351)
Town Bank & Mortgage
Domino's Pizza
State Farm Insurance (Pat Stewart, Agent)
Nationwide Insurance (Skip Showker, Agent)
Roger Monger (Staunton Lodge 351)
Joe Mader (Staunton Lodge 351)
Elliot Automotive Group

With sponsor donations, entry fees, splatter board and 50/50 raffle; the event was able to raise $1600. Staunton 351 voted August 17 to cover expenses and donate all revenue to the Wounded Warriors.

Staunton 351 "never forgets a VET"